

CURRENT ASTROLOGICAL WEATHER

January 15, 2011

By Michael Erlewine (Michael@Erlewine.net)

Some of you have asked for a quick peek at the next couple of weeks astrologically. Let's look at two configurations: the state of the Sun-Moon-Earth configuration and second the overall prognosis for the next ten days to two weeks.

Local Conditions

As for the Sun-Moon-Earth relationship, things are finally starting to move again, energy is growing, and now is the time to get things done, the time to put in the work and time to embody and build up something real, substantial. However, it may be more difficult than usual for you to get off the dime and exercise some action. Of course we should strike while the iron is hot, since it will be a while before this kind of effort will be as easy as now. That being said, in reality I feel we will be a bit stuck in time until at least the Full Moon on January 19, 2011, mostly due to larger longer-term (and more significant) patterns to be described next. In other words, still no release.

Meta-Conditions

It is my understanding that this next Full Moon coming Wednesday (Jan. 19th at 4:22 PM EST) will coincide with the mental oomph that many of us have been lacking and waiting for. Around that time we will at least have the sense of being in control, back in the driver's seat, and able to "see" "metaphysically" once again. We should get a handle on or grasp of what has been going on these last couple of weeks and be able to finally put it in perspective. Right now many of us may feel we are unable to get moving on much of anything, which can be a very uncomfortable feeling. What to do?

Just wait a week and we should experience a much higher time, higher as in "out of the body" and able to have an overview of what is going on, call it "super"-vision of whatever. We will be able to manage things once again and at least have the illusion of control. But take note: That sense of being in charge, which should be quite extraordinary (and more than welcome) will easily (and almost effortlessly) be likely to slip into a syndrome or groove where we try to prolong a good thing and end up stuck. Unlike today, where many of us may feel a little out-of-sorts or uncomfortable, this coming groove will be more of a downhill slide and we probably won't even be aware of it enough to know to avoid it. Sorry, but this is hard to put into words.

One good thing is that we will get a big shot of "meaning" and the more spiritual or psychological side of things once again, something that is missing just now.
