VERY STRONG

This is an important eclipse right on the Solstice Day, so be aware. Aside from the coincidence, there is more to this particular eclipse. It could affect many of us deep down at the resonance level, beyond thought and thinking. In other words, you should be able to feel it more than conceive it. Think of it as a tone, vibration, or frequency that you may or may not resonate with. If you can resonate with it, then relax and let the signs around you tell the story you should hear at this time. It is being broadcast if you can receive it.

All one needs to do is just coast a bit and listen to the music of whatever message is coming forth from this very strong configuration. For some of us it is a call to change our life or to be more accurate, to bring our life more into line with reality and resonate with it. Check it out.
