

NEW BLOG INTERFACE

March 23, 2011

By Michael Erlewine (Michael@Erlewine.net)

Here is a work-in-progress, my new blog site where the various articles, blogs, photos, writings, and whatever-I-come-up-with can be found and in some sort of organization. I am doing this myself so it takes time so do have patience. Check it out here:

<http://startypes.com/>

I am not abandoning Facebook, far from it. I will be attempting to combine what I have done on Facebook with a standard forum so that you (and me too!) can find a particular article or subject. I will be working on this for some days.

Let me know your thoughts on this please!

Thanks,

Michael

P.S. Any of you could do this for less than $100 a year if you need such a setup. Just go to Siteground.com and have them install the PHPBB forum system. Then you need a web page like the one above and you can use my code if you wish.

Greetings!
Welcome to AstroTalk, an area devoted to music, photography, astrology, and other spiritual practices. I am Michael Erlewine, founder/director of Matrix Software and I have been working in astrology for the last fifty years, the first astrologer to program astrology on desktop computers and make those programs available to others. Matrix Software is the oldest software company on the Internet aside from Microsoft.

Making Blues Time
Blues Time is Not Clock Time The great blues artists expand time and we go between the clock-ticking seconds to a more spacious sense of time where there is space to know ourselves and each other in a more meaningful way. That is why we love the music. Read More.

Supermoons and Massive Tides
Not every Full or New Moon is equally powerful. There are many interesting factors that can combine to create what is called a "Supermoon." The Earth-Moon-Sun trio, called "The Lights" in the tradition of astrology is one of the most powerful astrological factors. See how these forces work to create very large tidal components and how they may possibly affect you. CLICK here for the article.

Psychedelics: Alteration of the Self
Four-Part Series A lot is known about the effects of psychedelics, but less known about the process of stabilization and recovery from these experiences. In this series of articles the emphasis is on stabilizing these experiences. Here is the article.

Wu-Tai-Shan: Birthplace of Astrology
Mt. Wu-Tai-Shan in China is considered by both Tibetans and the Chinese as the place where astrology entered this world through the 84,000 astrological teachings emanated by the Bodhisattva Manjushri. In 2004 I traveled to this legendary place with a great Tibetan rinpoche to make offerings. Here is the story.

The Heart Center Astrological Library
The Heart Center Astrological Library is perhaps the largest astrological library in the world. It is housed and maintained by Michael Erlewine in Big Rapids, Michigan. Take the tour.
