

NO SHOWERS PREDICTED TODAY

November 20, 2011

By Michael Erlewine (Michael@Erlewine.net)

Kind of gray day here with temperatures in the mid- 30s, so I post this photo from last May to remind me what six months from now will be like.

The baby shower went well and late. Much companionship took place so I am told, with circles of baby stories being formed, opening gifts, fantastic food, and bonding all round. At 11 PM last night a crew of ladies was still doing dishes.

As for the boys, we survived. Had a couple of hours of fun conversation, a quick visit to Schuberg's Bar for sandwiches and what-not followed by all of us plopping down in the living room and watching the Clint Eastwood movie "In the Line of Fire." After that we devolved into watching the highlights of the early Mike Tyson fights. The men's mysteries were no mystery to anyone. I clocked out in the middle of the Tyson fights and just went to bed.

This morning's brunch is full swing.