

CALLA LILLY REDUX
April 15, 2011

By Michael Erlewine (Michael@Erlewine.net)

High winds today, so outside photography is out, except for high-speed photos, which I don't enjoy.

So it is back to indoors, and the Calla Lilies look especially inviting as we head for the Full Moon on Sunday. The Full Moon always marks a fruition time or peak (the tip of the top) of whatever has been developing these last two weeks, so watch for that.

P.S. In high-res too for those with time.

