

FREE E-BOOK – THE CITIES (a.k.a. THE PRISON CITIES)
Science Fiction
January 13, 2011

By Michael Erlewine

For those of you with the temerity to read it, here is a science-fiction book I wrote. This is an extended (non-standard) treatment for film that is in the general lineage of “Blade Runner,” a no-tongue-in-cheek drama, with no camp. A finished screenplay also exists, but to get an initial impression, it is hoped that this treatment will suffice. The film takes places in the future, but not very far into the future.

This is a mixture of action and the dharma.

If any of you read it, I would love to know what you think of it.

It is here:
