

A SIGN OF LIFE
Gift from THE Full Moon of May
May 17, 2011

By Michael Erlewine (Michael@Erlewine.net)

While photographing in the woods not long after the moment of the Full Moon I came across this tiny being, born only shortly before. The afterbirth was still on the ground nearby. The mother ran off. I took some pictures. The mother came back and hopefully is with this tiny creature as I write.

The photo is lovely but the moment is beyond words, the sense of life and the only movement the expanding of the nostrils and the slow movement of breathing. I am still kind of trembling inside from the encounter. I take it as a good sign.
